Dear valued client,

Budgeting successfully for IT operations is never easy, and planning for 2022 may be the most challenging year yet. Businesses have had to change the way we use technology during the pandemic and the related costs impact our budgets.

5 Reasons Why IT Operations Will Cost More in 2022

This paper explains the five main ways your IT operations budget has changed and what to consider as you plan your 2022 allocations.

I hope you find these insights helpful. As an MSP/MSSP, we work closely with organizations to help them develop IT budgets that are realistic and meet their needs.

Sincerely,

Ken Brantley, Director of Strategic Accounts
